Troopers Seek Public's Help Identifying Subject

Presented by Public Information Officer Master Corporal Gary E. Fournier

Cheswold – The Delaware State Police is asking the public's assistance in attempting to identify a male subject that inappropriately touched two females.

The incident took place around 3:30 a.m. on Thursday June 2, 2016 as a 54-year-old female had just checked out at a register at the Walmart located at 36 Jerome Drive. A male subject began following the female out of the store and began a conversation with her. At one point, as the female is facing away from the male, he reached into his pants and pulled out his penis, pressing up against her and startling her. The male then flees the area in a tan/gold colored SUV with possible Delaware registration. Further investigation revealed that the same subject had placed his hand on the back of a 31-year-old female as she was checking out approximately 20 minutes earlier. The female was offended by his actions and informed the subject to keep his hands to himself before the two went their separate ways.

The suspect depicted in the surveillance images is described as a white male between the ages of 30-40 years old, standing approximately 5'05″-5'11" tall, wearing a black and white head cover, blue/green shirt, dark pants, and sneakers. He may be operating a tan/gold colored SUV with possible Delaware registration.

If anyone has any information on this incident or the suspect, they are asked to contact Sergeant J. Lloyd at 302-698-8434. Information may also be provided by calling Delaware Crime Stoppers at 1-800-TIP-3333, via the internet at
