Selbyville – The Delaware State Police have arrested a 30-year-old man after he stabbed a woman west of Selbyville.

The incident occurred around 3:05 p.m. Monday December 19,

2016 when troopers were dispatched to the area of Baker Road and Blueberry Farm Road for a report of a female that had been stabbed. It was also reported that a male subject had just fled the area in a tan Suzuki SUV with a Delaware registration. Responding troopers along with officers from Selbyville, Frankford, and Dagsboro Police Departments began searching the area for the suspect, who was identified as Temourise O. Taylor, 30 of Selbyville, and located him within 20 minutes when he was taken into custody during a traffic stop on DuPont Boulevard (US113) south of Daisey Street in Frankford.

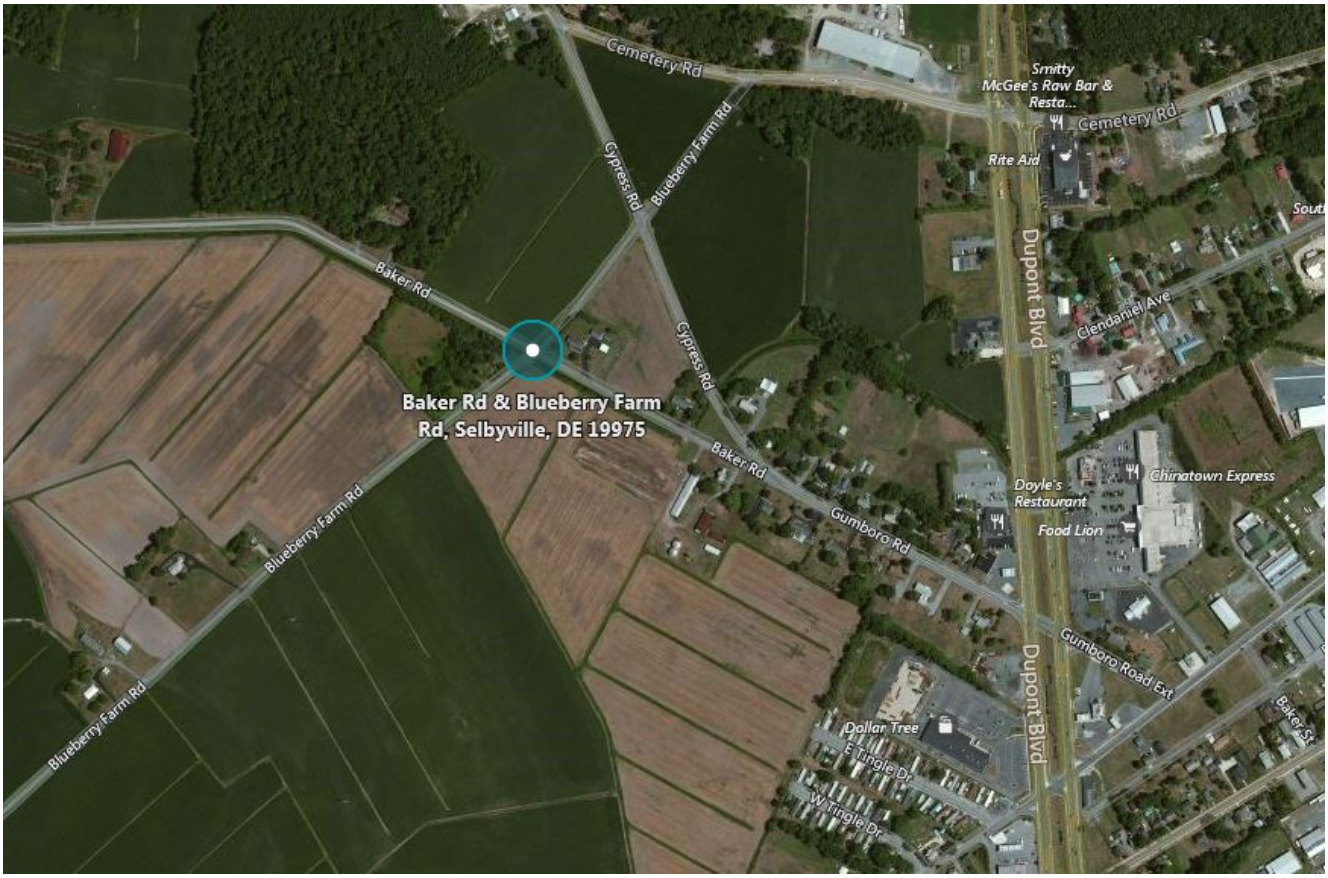

The investigation revealed Taylor and the 36-year-old female victim, who is an acquaintance of Taylor, drove to his house shortly before the stabbing occurred to drop off Christmas presents. While at the house, Taylor propositioned the female numerous times to engage in sex with him and she continuously refused. When Taylor parked the vehicle in a secluded area on Blueberry Farm Road west of Selbyville, the victim exited the vehicle and began walking away. Taylor then approached her and grabbed her by the shirt causing her to grab him and strike him in the face in order to get away. At this point, Taylor removed a knife and began stabbing in her upper torso. The victim was able to flee from Taylor to an occupied truck that witnessed the incident and called 9-1-1. Upon Taylor seeing the truck, he then fled the scene in the tan Suzuki SUV and was captured a short time later.
