Law Enforcement Officers' Safety Act of 2004 Advisory

Introduction

On July 22, 2004, President Bush signed into law the Law Enforcement Officers' Safety Act of 2003, ("LEOSA"). This Law is codified in Chapter 44 of Title 18 of the United States Code, at §926B and §926C. This law allows qualified active and certain retired law enforcement officers, in accordance with State Laws, to carry concealed firearms nationwide. Additionally, the law establishes the criteria that those individuals must meet annually to qualify as an active or honorably retired law enforcement officer. The requirements are as follows:

Criteria for Certification

Active Law Enforcement Officer:

1. Is authorized by law to engage in or supervise the prevention, detection, investigation, or prosecution of, or the incarceration of any person for, any violation of law, and has statutory powers of arrest or apprehension under 10 U.S.C. § 807(b) (article 7(b) of the Uniform Code of Military Justice)
2. Authorized by the agency to carry a firearm.
3. Is not the subject of any disciplinary action by the agency which could result in suspension or loss of police powers.
4. Meets standards established by the agency which require the employee to regularly qualify in the use of a firearm.
5. Is not under the influence of alcohol or another intoxicating or hallucinatory drug or substance.
6. Is not prohibited by State or Federal law from receiving a firearm.

Retired Law Enforcement Officer:

1. Honorably separated from service from a public agency as a law enforcement officer, other than for reasons of mental instability.
2. Before such separation, was authorized by law to engage in or supervise the prevention, detection, investigation, or prosecution of, or the incarceration of any person for, any violation of law, and had statutory powers of arrest or apprehension.
3. Before such separation, (a) was regularly employed as a law enforcement officer for an aggregate of 10 years or more; or (b) separated from service with such agency, after completing any applicable probationary period of such service, due to a service-connected disability, as determined by such agency.
4. Has a non-forfeitable right to benefits under the retirement plan of the agency.
5. During the most recent 12-month period, has met, at the expense of the individual, the State of Delaware standards for training and qualification for active law enforcement officers to carry firearms, as established by the Peace Officer Standards and Training Commission ("POST").
6. Is not under the influence of alcohol or another intoxicating or hallucinatory drug or substance.
7. Is not prohibited by State or Federal law from receiving a firearm.

If you have met the above requirements, qualifying you as an active or honorably separated law enforcement officer, proceed to the next steps outlined in the "Procedures for Certification."
